

To the successful applicants to Marine Environment and Energy Professional Training
International Courses on the Tokyo University of Marine Science and Technology
Graduate School of Marine Science and Technology Master's Course 2011

16th May, 2011

Tomoji Takamasa, Dean, Graduate School of Marine Science and Technology

I would like to congratulate you on your successful application to our Graduate School's Marine Environment and Energy Professional Training International Courses.

The Great East Japan Earthquake and the subsequent problems of the Fukushima nuclear power plant accident have caused large-scale damage in the disaster-stricken areas but we were fortunate that our Tokyo campus was almost undamaged. Initially, there were planned power outages in the suburbs and even though we are still in energy conservation mode, we think that this situation will be resolved by the time you arrive in Japan.

We eagerly await your arrival in October to study highly effective environmental conservation and efficient energy use in various fields in marine development and utilization on our graduate school course in order to promote Asianization and globalization.
