

Japan-China-Korea Program Exchange Student Information Sessions

A group of Japan-China-Korea Program faculty members and coordinators led by Akio Okayasu, Dean of the Graduate School of Marine Science and Technology, visited the consortium schools of Pukyong National University and Korea Maritime University in November, 2012 and Shanghai Maritime University, Shanghai Ocean University, Dalian Maritime University and Ocean University of China in December, 2012 and held exchange student information sessions for students who wish to enroll in the Marine Environment and Energy Professional Training International Courses (Japan-China-Korea Course) for the next academic year.

Each information session had several dozen participants and Mr Okayasu gave an introduction to the university and an explanation of the Japan-China-Korea Course followed by a detailed description of life as an exchange student including research and study and life in Japan. The students had many enthusiastic questions about research contents, tuition fees and scholarships at the university.

We hope that we will be welcoming more excellent exchange students on the Program in the next academic year.
